 Case No. 158590/2013]

NOTICE OF REMOVAL

Defendant Alphonse Fletcher, Jr. ("Fletcher") hereby removes Case No. 158590/2013 from the Supreme Court of The State of New York, County of New York, to the United States District Court for the Northern District of California pursuant, to 28 U.S.C. Section 1332, 1441, and 1446, and as grounds for its removal states as follows:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

1. On September 19, 2013 Plaintiffs KASOWITZ, BENSON, TORRES & FRIEDMAN, LLP, ("Kasowitz") filed a Complaint in the Supreme Court of The State of New York, County of New York, styled KASOWITZ, BENSON, TORRES & FRIEDMAN, LLP,

NOTICE OF REMOVAL

vs. ALPHONSE FLETCHER, JR. and FLETCHER ASSET MANAGEMENT, INC., Case No. 158590/2013 against Fletcher Asset Management, Inc. (“Management”) and Fletcher (the “State Court Action”). A copy of the Complaint is attached as Exhibit A hereto.

2. Kasowitz represented Fletcher International, Ltd. (“International”) and its affiliates Management and Fletcher in matters related to the unlawful retaliation that led to and continues during the litigation styled as “Alphonse Fletcher, Jr. and Fletcher Asset Management, Inc. v The Dakota Inc., Bruce Barnes, and Peter Nitze” filed by Management and Fletcher in The Supreme Court of The State of New York (“Fletcher v Dakota”).
3. In 2010, certain shareholders controlling the board of Manhattan’s Dakota cooperative apartment building (“Dakota Parties”) promised to use the substantial influence of Dakota shareholders to destroy Fletcher’s funds, his business, and his family. Similar threats had been made and acted upon by the Dakota Parties since 2007 when Fletcher began to have success in his opposition to the unlawful practices of the Dakota Parties.
4. Management and Fletcher filed “Fletcher v Dakota” in February, 2011 response to escalating threats, breaches of fiduciary duty, tortious interference, defamation, discriminatory conduct, and other retaliation by the Dakota Parties.
5. The Dakota Defendants’ including the individual defendants, each of whom is a former board president, filed a motion to dismiss the case which was denied by the trial court in 2011. The Dakota Defendants’ appeal of that decision was also denied by the Appellate Division in 2012. Coop directors no longer are immune from the consequences of their responsibility for any tortious acts.

6. Now, almost three years following the filing of the suit, The Dakota has produced fewer than 25,000 pages of discovery. Management and Fletcher have produced more than 300,000 pages including inadvertent productions which the Dakota Defendants have refused to return. Further, Fletcher has been informed that the Dakota Defendants' counsel have violated the Court's confidentiality order.
7. Further, the Dakota Parties conduct has chilled the participation of witnesses that had previously volunteered to testify, interfered with Management's contracts relating to colleagues, service providers, access to assets, and investment contracts, abused process with respect to state, foreign, and federal courts, and repeatedly made false allegations to various government agencies and officials.
8. In July, 2011, in an effort to confront the interference by the Dakota Parties, their agents, and their allies, International, Management, and Fletcher added Kasowitz to their legal team. Kasowitz entered into three separate retention contracts and received three separate retainers from the three clients. Kasowitz would lead the legal team.
9. Managing Partner Marc Kasowitz promised he would rely upon his strong relationships with a Prominent Law Firm and an International Media Company to try to persuade each of them to terminate their participation in any wrongdoing particularly any unlawful interference with International and its affiliates. On information and belief, Kasowitz derives substantial revenue from the two relationships and its work with each involves, directly or indirectly, significant issues relating to federal anti-discrimination and anti-retaliation law.

10. After several weeks, it became clear that Kasowitz and its co-counsel were not providing the representation for which International, Management, and Fletcher contracted. Fletcher's multiple requests for assistance were met with explanations of how the law did not offer any opportunities to petition the court regarding the ongoing interference.
11. The two Kasowitz partners representing Fletcher quickly moved to a new much bigger case into which Kasowitz was invited by the Prominent Law Firm. At least three other partners and various teams of associates replaced the original two partners. Issues arose regarding conflicts, staffing, privilege, costs, strategy and other problems.
12. In October, 2012, Kasowitz suddenly withdrew from the case, refused to deliver documents to replacement counsel, and took other actions its former clients considered harmful.
13. In September 2013, Kasowitz brought the State Court Action against its former clients.
14. The State Court Action purports to assert three causes of action: (a) Breach of Contract, (b) Quantum Meruit, (c) Account Stated. Each of Plaintiff's claims is based on its contention that Fletcher and Management breached contracts with Plaintiff and must pay Plaintiff certain legal fees for services it purports to have provided.
15. The Plaintiff seeks the sum of $2,304,630.54.

FEDERAL QUESTION JURISDICTION UNDER 28 U.S.C. SECTION 1331

16. This Court has proper jurisdiction over this matter under 28 U.S.C. Section 1331 because Plaintiff's conduct, particularly its conduct as Defendants' counsel in civil rights cases, presents important federal questions. With questions involving the interpretation of, among other statutes, 42 U.S.C. Section 1981, Section 1985, and Section 3617, “it may be assumed that federal judges will have more experience.” Yellow Freight System, Inc. v. Donnelly, 494 U.S. 820, 826, 110 S.Ct. 1566. Plaintiff’s entitlement to the substantial fees it claims depends on, among other factors, whether Plaintiff provided adequate legal representation. One determinant of the adequacy of the representation is the correctness of Plaintiff’s advice that no opportunity existed, including under federal law and the U.S. Constitution, to petition the court for relief from the Dakota Parties’ documented ongoing retaliation in multiple jurisdictions. Resolution of this and other important questions of law requires the parties to “resort to the experience, solicitude, and hope of uniformity that a federal forum offers.” Singh v. Duane Morris, Case No. 07-20321 (5th Cir., July 30, 2008) (Smith, J.). Federal court is a particularly appropriate forum given the challenge this Complaint creates to the principles that “private citizens are to be able to assert their civil rights” and “those who violate the Nation’s fundamental laws are not to proceed with impunity.” S.Rep. No. 94-1011, at 2 (1976), reprinted in 1976 U.S.C.C.A.N. 5908, 5910

17. Plaintiff’s Breach of Contract claim presents federal questions regarding Plaintiff’s obligations to honor its contractual obligations to Defendants under 42 U.S.C. Section 1981. Plaintiff’s “relationships” or other influences may have affected its conduct to an extent sufficient to deprive Defendants of their rights to the enjoyment of all benefits, privileges, terms, and conditions of their contracts with Plaintiff.

18. With respect to Plaintiff's conduct during and after its representation of Defendants, this Court reasonably might find that Plaintiff exercised provisions of the agreements in a contractually correct manner but to achieve an unlawful objective. Such conduct could be violative of 42 U.S.C. Section 1981 to the extent it deprived Defendants of their rights to sue, be parties, give evidence, and to the full and equal benefit of all laws and proceedings for the security of persons and property.
19. Plaintiff's conduct may be interpreted by this Court to suggest Plaintiff's intention to coerce, intimidate, threaten, or interfere with Defendants and their affiliates in their exercise and enjoyment of, on account of their having exercised and enjoyed, and on account of their having aided and encouraged other persons in the exercise and enjoyment of rights granted and protected by The Constitution and federal housing law in violation of 42 U.S.C. Section 3617.
20. Certain coordination observed between Plaintiff and other parties in relation to federal courts or officials, for example, the purported acrimonious communications with the Fletcher International, Ltd. Chapter 11 Trustee which Plaintiff claimed peaked a few weeks prior to Plaintiff's filing the State Court Action, could possibly affect how an official such as the Trustee discharges his duties. This Court might interpret the details of such coordination and interactions in certain circumstances as hindering or obstructing an official's discharge of her duties in violation of 42 U.S.C. Section 1985(1).
21. Plaintiff's current State Court Action against Defendants and concurrent related actions by other parties might be interpreted under 42 U.S.C. Section 1985(2) as efforts to deter by intimidation or threat Defendants from attending important upcoming federal court proceedings in the Southern District of New York and testifying freely, fully, and truthfully to matters involving their affiliate International.

22. Plaintiff's failure, despite Bar ethics and canons, to make a zealous effort resolve issues with its client relating to advocacy, conflicts, staffing, privileges, costs, strategy, and the clients' rights to petition the Courts might be interpreted as unlawful under 42 U.S.C. Section 1985(2) especially in the context of the coordination between Plaintiff's with other certain other parties. Plaintiff's conduct might appear to have been done for the purpose of impeding, hindering, obstructing, or defeating the course of justice in The Supreme Court in the State of New York with intent to deny Defendants the equal protection of the laws, or to injure them or their property for lawfully enforcing, or attempting to enforce, their rights and the rights of other people and classes of people, to the equal protection of the laws.
23. Plaintiff's actions and failure to take actions have facilitated the purported "privileged" actions undertaken by the Dakota Parties pursuant to their counsel's "Public Strategy" described on their website.¹ If shown to be for the purpose of depriving, directly and indirectly, Defendants of the equal protection of the laws and of equal privileges and immunities under the laws, such actions and failure to take actions might be interpreted as violations of 42 U.S.C. Section 1985(3).
24. Another reason why this Court has proper jurisdiction is that the controversy does not involve a res over which another court has assumed jurisdiction. Additionally, the federal district court in the Northern District of California would serve as a forum and venue convenient to Kasowitz's San Francisco office with which Fletcher's family has worked and to Fletcher's primary residence. Further, if Fletcher files counter-claims, they are likely to be filed in this Court thus this Court's exercise of jurisdiction should help avoid piecemeal litigation. Proceedings in this matter have not yet advanced elsewhere.

25. Most fundamentally, the important federal questions, such as those raised by Kasowitz's State Court Action and prior conduct, against its former clients during the course of their challenging civil rights litigation, are presumed to be best adjudicated in federal courts. Kasowitz collected approximately $1,000,000 from its clients, withdrew from their representation without providing the services for which they contracted, and now, among other adverse actions, sues them demanding an additional $2,304,630.54. In civil rights cases such as this, "the function of an award of attorney's fees is to encourage the bringing of meritorious civil rights claims which might otherwise be abandoned because of the financial imperatives surrounding the hiring of competent counsel." Kerr v. Quinn, 692 F.2d 875, 877 (2d Cir.1982). "If private citizens are to be able to assert their civil rights, and if those who violate the Nation's fundamental laws are not to proceed with impunity, then citizens must have the opportunity to recover what it costs them to vindicate these rights in court." S.Rep. No. 94-1011, at 2 (1976), reprinted in 1976 U.S.C.C.A.N. 5908, 5910.

DIVERSITY JURISDICTION UNDER 28 U.S.C. SECTION 1332(a)

26. This Court has jurisdiction over this matter under 28 U.S.C. Section 1332(a) because there is complete diversity of citizenship between Plaintiff and Fletcher, more than $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs, is at stake, and the error resulting from Plaintiff's nominally joining Fletcher and Management. Kasowitz has no claim on Fletcher for legal fees purportedly owed by Management and no claim on Management for legal fees purportedly owed by Fletcher.
27. Plaintiff alleges that it is a resident of New York. Plaintiff has a San Francisco office with which Fletcher's family has done business.
28. Fletcher is a resident of California.
29. Plaintiff seeks $2,304,630.54 thus well in excess of $75,000 is in controversy and the jurisdictional threshold under 28 U.S.C. Section 1332(a) is satisfied.

ALL PROCEDURAL REQUIREMENTS FOR REMOVAL HAVE BEEN SATISFIED

30. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 1446(a) a true and correct copy of all of the process, pleadings, orders, and documents from the State Court Action which have been served upon Fletcher are being filed with this Notice of Removal. Fletcher will file true and legible copies of all other documents on file in the State Court Action as well as a certification pursuant to Local Rules within 30 days of the filing of this Notice of Removal.
31. This Notice of Removal was intended to be filed online on October 28, 2013 within 30 days of the date that Kasowitz purported to serve Fletcher with the State Court Action by email or otherwise cause Fletcher "embarrassment." Defendant Fletcher was unable to establish a Pro Se Electronic Court Filings account and instead respectfully requests the Court accept his filing of this Notice of Removal in person on October 29, 2013 and consider this Removal timely in accordance with 28 U.S.C. Section 1446(b).

32. Venue is proper in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Section 1441(a) and 1446(a) because the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California is the federal judicial district in which Fletcher resides.

INTRADISTRICT ASSIGNMENT

33. Fletcher resided in San Francisco as of Kasowitz's filing of the State Court Action and during the period in which Plaintiff claims Fletcher should have made payment to Plaintiff.

CONCLUSION

By this Notice of Removal, Fletcher does not waive any objections it may have as to service, jurisdiction or venue, or any other defenses or objections it may have to this action. Fletcher intends no admission of fact., law or liability by this Notice, and expressly reserves all defenses, motions, and/or pleas.
